

Launch your analyst career with a Fortune 5 company.

At UnitedHealth Group, we will empower you to use your analyst skills to make health care more accessible and affordable for everyone. Join some of the brightest minds in the industry and let's start Caring. Connecting. Growing together.

In an analyst role on our team, you will discover that we prioritize work-life balance, your well-being, schedule predictability, and professional growth.

Improving health care outcomes: We improve the lives of millions of people each year. Analysts here go beyond the spreadsheets, the insights you bring help make health care work better for everyone.

Career growth: We have more than 440,000 employees, many of which have been with the enterprise for five or more years. Our extensive family of businesses will provide you with ongoing analyst opportunities to make a difference in the areas of: Optum Insight, Optum Health, Optum Care Solutions, and Employer & Individual insurance products.

Early careers: Our Analyst Rotational Program and internship program enables you to network across the enterprise through cohort activities and trainings. This includes our three-day Ignition conference for all Early Careers hires.

Analyst: Work on a project basis in a diverse set of analyst responsibilities: qualitative and quantitative data analysis, analyzing and interpreting data, assist in research projects and support strategic business initiatives, maintain databases, initiate improvements and provide process feedback.
